
Families needed for BBC2 series about food

Posted by E_Priestman - 2014/07/18 16:57

Studio Lambert, the television producers behind Undercover Boss, Gogglebox & The Great Interior Design Challenge are producing a new documentary series about food for BBC2. They want to speak to any families from across the country who might be interested in taking part.

If you're a family who is passionate about food and cooking, we'd love to find out what happens in your kitchen and around your dinner table, so please get in touch by sending a brief description of yourself to getintouch@studiolambert.com or call 0203 040 6875. If selected, filming will take place from the end of August.

=====