Are you overweight and struggling to find a job?

Channel 5 is making a new documentary and offering individuals and families the opportunity to speak about their personal experiences.

Does your weight affect your everyday life?

Do people judge you because of your size?

Are you finding it difficult to get a job because you're overweight?

Do you feel that people are prejudiced against you?

I am keen to talk to people about their thoughts on this issue. All calls are treated with the strictest confidence.
